My name is Tom and I am a member of Alcoholics Anonymous. I wanted to share part of my story. It has to do with the State Conference. We happen to be having a conference hosted by our Area 20 and districts 10 and 42 this upcoming August 12-14th.

Some years ago on or about the time I was becoming introduced to the program of Alcoholics Anonymous. I was about eighty to ninety days sober and working a do-it-yourself program. You can only imagine how successful that was. Actually, I was 88 days sober when I felt it was ok to take a family trip to a safe haven in Wisconsin where I could drink without being seen (at least by anybody I knew in the program.) After about three to four days of more “controlled drinking,” It was time to return home, spouse in tow with two children ages 1 and 5 in the back seat. It was the longest 4 hour car ride of my life, radio silence was how I would describe it. I forgot to mention I had a do-it-yourself 4th step spiral notebook in my luggage. I never opened it that long weekend.

Upon arrival at home I had decided that a trip to the liquor store was in order. I was done with A.A. It didn’t work. At that moment my phone rang and it was a man I met early in the program. I am not sure why I decided to tell him I had been drinking or that I was on my way to the liquor store. He wasn’t mad or upset with me. He asked if I would like to go to a meeting with some other guys and he could pick me up in five minutes. I said, “No thank you.” He showed up anyway. Derek and four other guys sandwiched me into their four door sedan. I was in the back bench seat with someone on each side of me to keep me from jumping out of a moving car. We were on our way to hear a speaker by the name of Scott L. speak at the State Convention October 3rd, 2003 in Schaumburg.

I walked into the hotel with my AA friends, I think they paid my way. I can’t recall. Once inside they showed me a ballroom with about 2-300 other alcoholics. I walked in, proceeded to lose my friends so I found a seat, in the front row. (I never sit in the front row.) I did not know what to make of any of it.

Shortly following there were announcements, introductions and expressions of gratitude to all of those in attendance and those who would be at the Conference through out the weekend. Scott L. was then introduced and stood at the podium no more than ten feet in front of me. He kicked off his shoes and spoke to the audience of his experience, strength and hope along with how it says on page 29 of the book Alcoholics Anonymous, “Each individual, in the personal stories, describes in his own language and from his own point of view the way he established his relationship with God.”

Scott went into his career, his life, what it was like, what happened and what it was like now. During that hour that he spoke I came to the realization that I had nothing in common with this man at a professional level and nor were his escapades mine. But when he described how alcohol made him feel and the compulsions, I understood. As that hour progressed with each anecdote, comedic and serious intertwined, I was captivated. He said thing that reached into my heart and soul. I knew I was alcoholic and nothing other than surrender offered me a chance. I had a tennis ball caught in my throat. I was speechless. (That is a hard thing to do to me. I always have an opinion on something.) I remember the events of that evening like it was yesterday. I found my friends after conference that evening. We got a chance to meet Scott. We exchanged phone numbers. I couldn’t believe it. Who does that? He made himself available to me in the coming weeks via phone until I had my first sponsor. Continued on page 2.

The things he said that evening at the State Conference saved my life. He is my friend. I have many friends in A.A. today and only hope I can be there for them as Scott was that night. If there was no State Conference there would have been no speaker there that changed my life. There are no coincidences.
